How we keep your data safe

Access to information is strictly controlled based on the role of the professional. All staff are required to undertake data protection training and comply with Trust security procedures.

Information about individuals is stored in secure databases which are encrypted. Data is not stored on individual devices but is stored on the central network.

Automated decision making

We do not envisage that any decisions taken about you will be done using automated means, however we will notify you in writing if this position changes.

Filtering and monitoring of IT systems

The Trust uses filtering and monitoring to help keep pupils safe, protect its systems, and ensure that IT equipment is used appropriately.

Filtering systems are used to control what can be accessed on the Trust's network. These systems:

- block access to inappropriate, harmful or illegal websites and content; and
- help create a safe online environment for pupils and staff.

The Trust also monitors the use of its IT systems to support safeguarding and maintain security.

Systems are in place to protect the Trust's technical infrastructure (such as servers, firewalls, networks and devices) from accidental or malicious threats. These are regularly tested, and all devices are protected by up to date anti-virus software.

User activity is monitored in the following ways:

- authorised staff are alerted where users are blocked by the filtering system;
- staff supervise pupils using devices during lessons, clubs and other activities;
- IT staff review system activity where needed; and
- records of internet use are kept to support investigations if required.

Monitoring is carried out in a proportionate way, and information is only reviewed where there is a valid reason, such as safeguarding concerns, security issues or suspected misuse. The Trust uses filtering and monitoring in order to protect pupils from harm, keep systems and data secure and ensure Trust IT systems are used properly.

Access to information relating to filtering and monitoring is limited to authorised staff, and is handled in line with Trust policies and data protection law. Further details on our approach to Monitoring and Filtering can be found in ICT3 Online Safety (Pupils) Policy, ICT 4 Online Safety (Staff) Policy and HR5 ICT Acceptable Use Policy.
